I watch C-Spann because I found that it answers a need for information that I consider a necessity for everyone. I believe that the United States and even the world profits. I am a member of AARP, NARFE, CPO, Senior Services, Gray Panthers, the League of Women Voters, and the National Council of Senior Citizens. I have been "retired" for over 12 years, but try to keep interested in the operation of our political-economic system because I am sure that what happens in our system affects all of us.

I know that our farm system can and does produce a surplus of food (grain, milk, and cotton). Yet, here in Wichita, with only 5% unemployed, the line for distribution of cheese was longer than the supply line. To tie C-Spann to all of this gives viewers an opportunity to learn what is going on and to call in with questions and opinions. These calls include on-the-ground reports from points that usually are unheard of or different. Our medical schools are producing a surplus of doctors, even specialists, and we are building more hospitals with many unused beds, while the majority of our citizens cannot afford necessary care because the costs are too high.

A trip to Washington, D.C. would be real interesting. With C-Spann connections, I might be able to suggest ways to improve the methods so that more citizens would participate (vote), improve the service, reduce the cost, and clarify responsibility.
