

00726 JA 1, 92

Dec. 1991

Brian Lamb
C-Span
Washington, D. C.

This Congressional recess is proving to be a repeat of the past several recesses. Nothing but current administration representatives and the administration immediately prior, the usual Congress persons, and what seems like an unlimited number of speakers and panels of the same persuasion, many taped months ago and repeated over and over. Not one single speaker or panel offering a single dissenting or alternative view on any subject whatsoever - unless you count Dr. Chomsky's talk shown at 3 o'clock in the morning, his last appearance being 4/11/89.

This according to our dictionary definition is not "public affairs" but pure propaganda. There are numerous speakers, groups, and panels who offer views and information contrary to this incessant one-sided, one party, one view point broadcasting. We get a dose of the Heritage Foundation and the American Enterprise Institute daily and recently hours were given to the blatant nonsense of Reed Irvine, head of the assanine Accuracy in Media.

To insure there is no time for any but one view, you have taken cameras to Japan, Mexico, Canada, Germany, Russia, Britain (ad nauseam) and God knows where else. You're going to run out of countries.

Bottom line - you and your sponsors, the cable companies, need to name this network what it really is - Conservative Satalite Propaganda Affairs Network.

Disputed.

Kansas City, Mo.

Christmas 1991 USA

Antoniazzi c. 1480 Houston Museum

Brian Lamb
C-SPAN
400 North Capitol
Washington, D.C. 20001