Dear Mr. Lamb,

While watching Washington Journal this A.M., something was wrong. When I opened my morning paper, I realized what it was. The program was carefully staged with a segment on the CIA, next segment on AT&T and, surprise, not a word about Clinton's being forced to trial with Paula Jones.

O.W.) I realize, by now, you are saying another complaint about partiality and you are right. When Mr. Gingrich was having his problems you & every other host brought his name up constantly, even out of context. Not a word about the $4 million the Clintons blew on parties - If a caller brought it up, it was ignored, as were the queries on who is paying for Sklar's spring junkets with the first daughter, nor how, if they are broke, can they afford to send her to the $30,000 per year College.

I believe that you think by toadying to the Democrats you will keep C-Span on most cables. I fought TCI in our area when they dropped C-Span. I believed you when you said the divided phone lines would cease after the election and I heard you say that they would. Now, when I speak with other viewers, I hear a tone of resentment and a feeling of why did we bother to fight for you.

Every A.M. "WJ", during the small intermissions, we are treated to endless dronings by some Democrat, usually the Pres. I no longer look forward to getting up at 4 AM to watch C-Span, etc. beginning to resemble ABC, CBS, NBC & CNN. Fox News is doing a better job -
