

September 18, 1993

C- Span Television
Mr. Brian Lamb
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr Lamb,

At this time the "NAFTA" agreement is under discussion. I have viewed many of your programs but have not been impressed with any of your guests. There has been no concrete reasons for or against this agreement. Pat Choate and Mickey Cantor have offered some answers but with no rational evidence.

Please invite Professor Ravi Batra for an interview and someone else his equal, perhaps Lester Thurow to give us the pros and cons.

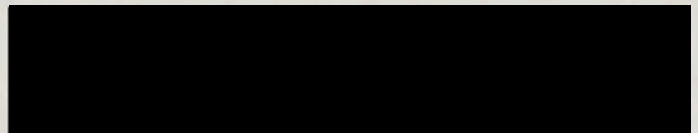

Dr. Ravi Batra teaches at Southern Methodist University, Dallas Texas. His new book, "The Myth of Free Trade," spells out where "NAFTA" would and would not work.

Most of the information on economics comes from followers of Adam Smith, Milton Friedman, and John Keynes. Dr. Batra deviates from this hard line biblical approach.

This agreement is a crucial concern for the lower socio economic workers in America and someone should take on the business special interest and the congress that represents this interest.

Enjoy C-Span very much. It has brought valuable information as to how our government works.

Sincerely,

A solid black rectangular box used to redact the signature of the sender.

Charlotte, N.C. 28212

Books Written By Dr. Batra

Dr. Ravi Batra - Professor of Economics
Southern Methodist University
Dallas, Texas

1. The Great Depression of 1990
2. Studies in the Pure Theory of International Trade.
3. Capitalism and Communism: A New Study of History
4. Muslim Civilization and the Crisis in Iran
5. Surviving The Great Depression of 1990
6. Theory of International Trade Under Uncertainty
7. The Downfall of Capitalism and Communism (1977)
 (a) Predicted both will fall by 2010
 (b) Russia has fallen. Can we save Capitalism?
8. The Myth of Free Trade
 (Published this year 1993)

[REDACTED]
Charlotte, N. C. 28212
[REDACTED]

Mr. Brian Lamb
C-Span Television
Washington, D.C.

444 — X Cap ✓