Dear Mr. Lamb,

In mid February I had the privilege of joining thirteen juniors from [REDACTED] on their Close Up week sponsored in part through the generosity of The David and Lucile Packard Foundation. As it was my first trip to our nation's Capitol, it was both a moving and educational experience. The young women met and talked with policymakers and saw the federal bureaucracy from behind-the-scenes. As a chaperone I was able to participate in seminars with experts as well as engage in small group discussions with other educators from different parts of the country.

There were two special highlights for me on this trip. The first was meeting with Erica Anderson, [REDACTED] now working on the staff of Lynn C. Woolsey, our United States Representative. The second was visiting the Holocaust Museum, the newest of the Smithsonianians.

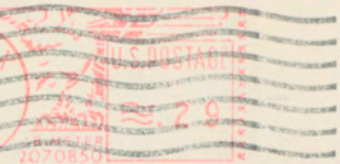

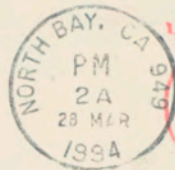

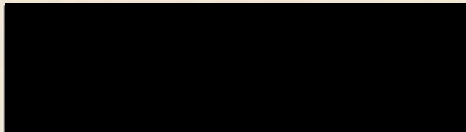

The Close Up Program provides students with opportunities to meet peers from other parts of the country. They are well-chaperoned and the days and events are extremely well-organized. The special "track" for the accompanying educators is equally educational and well-organized. Whatever support you provide to assist the Northern California Program of the Close Up Foundation truly benefits young people and adults. I highly commend C-SPAN for its work with the Foundation.

Sincerely, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
