I'll be briefer than most of your callers.

- ① Thank you for sending me the schedule. I wasn't aware of Washington, but that is the only one I will miss unless we have another ice storm and the electricity fails (again, as in Dec. 1998)
- ② Enjoyed every minute of Andrew Jackson. I was out at the Hermitage just weeks before their tornado so you gave me a good look at the harm to the trees. They will grow back! The recent renovations are a real improvement, once upon a time you were not allowed to use the front stairs at all.
- ③ Really looking forward to Polk. I was there in the early stages of developing the home, but they let me peek around. The most recent trip was a most pleasant surprise. My polite Southern lady Mother taught me to never ask personal questions. But I do have a sincere one. How was he able to leave enough money for his widow to live most comfortably all those years after he died?

I have both Booknotes books. David McCullough is my favorite. I hope he will be on with #33.

Many many Thanks -
