This is my comments concerning a broadcast that took place 4/9/93 controlled by Susan Swain. You may not wish to read this and I assume you'll continue business as usual. In my opinion this may find a reaction similar to mine; to watch rarely as opposed to frequently. I intend to request my cable company to take your channel off their list as well as CNBC since I observe the same practices.

First of all your moderators, including Ms. Swain, only moderate the call in people. I have never heard one of the moderators say that the question of a caller wasn't addressed! Why is it you never have average people to comment to call in questions?

The show on 4/9/93 had Mitchell Locin, very biased and extremely rude, Jessica Lee also very biased but mannerly, and Kathy Keily a little less biased and mannerly. On several occasions

Lozin interrupted caller questions with Swain just smiling as usual. O'Brien is just like a Swain twin. For members of the media, economics or politics to continue with comments just as spoken by the Executive or Congress doesn't cut it.

What I look for is explanations of those terms and a individual's ideas. One topic you all run from is the terms 'Trilateralist' and similar groups. Clinton is one as so was Bush but the public really doesn't understand the connection and the ideas they espouse! If you can review that 4/8/93 show and disagree with those comments fine. But if you see what I am trying to point out then I trust you will change your format or at least mix it up and give fair guidelines to the moderators. Why should a caller be asked who their for or who they voted for when the panel isn't!! I will ~~turn~~ in once in a while to see if its still business as usual.
