

[REDACTED]
Cleveland, OH 44111

Tel: [REDACTED]

January 30, 1999

The Washington Journal
Washington, D.C.

Since I'm retired on disability I have been able to closely watch this fiasco in Washington. I've written my concerns to all of my state representatives and I've attached a copy of that correspondence hereto. It appears that in their haste and determination to destroy the presidency, our present elected politicians have totally ignored the wishes of the electorate. I've elaborated briefly below.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans care about what's best for the general public or what Americans really think or want. Those politicians responsible for heading up this Washington massacre against our elected President ought to be ashamed of themselves. They are taking us down a road on which all of us will suffer the consequences. If those "good old boys" would work half as hard on the business of the country (i.e., Social Security and Medicare) they might be able to accomplish some of what we sent them to Washington to do in the first place!

As it stands now, I can see that I have got to change my past practice of researching all candidates who are running for political office. From now on, I will only vote for individuals who are qualified as wrestlers and only those wrestlers that do not belong to the Republican or Democratic parties will get my vote. Shakespeare said it best, "Kill All The Lawyers" ... their not good for too much more than gumming up the gears of progress anyway. To all members of the House and Senate, I say shame on you, shame on you. I can't condone what you fellows are doing to this country. Perhaps my grandchildren or their children will be able to forgive all you pompous fellows who are hell bent on destroying this nation, but the Lord knows that I can't.

[REDACTED]
Cleveland, Ohio

unipeach

*C-SPAN
"Washington Journal" has my permission to quote me pertaining to this correspondence (in whole or in part)*

[REDACTED]
Cleveland, OH 44111

Tel: [REDACTED]

" SAMPLE "

December 12, 1998

«Title» «FirstName» «LastName»

«Address2»

«City», «State» «PostalCode»

RE: Your Job As An Elected Representative of "The People"

If the "good old boys" in Washington would only use half the energy you are expending in persecuting OUR President to instead solve Social Security's problems, we could get this country back on track and doing the proper business of state!! However, I suppose this is as good as any a way to divert, stall or disrupt the real issues facing Americans in the next millennium. Lately, you boys seem to be real good at doing that sort of thing.

I have been a citizen who has always taken part in the electoral process up until now. I've researched all the running candidates and tried to fairly determine the best person for the job. However, I've come to the conclusion that that's not important anymore. Both Democrats and Republicans aren't really interested in supporting the results of an election determined by the American voters. Both parties are too involved with self-interests to care about what's best for the general public or what Americans really think or want.

So, from now on, I will only cast votes for the candidates who meet the qualifications for "wrestler" ...and only those wrestlers who are aligned with independent or "other" party affiliations will be considered by me as truly qualified candidates. These are the only candidates who I think might be able to fill the bill from now on. The two-party system is now dead as far as I am concerned. It is too corrupt to accomplish anything!

Maybe it's because I am a woman that I can see just how vicious you have all become in order to devour our President and the presidency itself. From my point of view you are all nuts. Since Adam and Eve, women have had to adjust their mindset to allow for the roving eye of their mates. The male species expects it, human nature allows it, and common sense requires it. Obviously, you folks in the House and Senate condone it only if it serves your purpose or you can't use it to your advantage in some way. I suppose if witches hadn't been burned at Salem, if wearing a Scarlet Letter wasn't banned, and if pigs really could fly, etc., etc., America would be heaven on earth for all. You have all become ridiculous!!

Shakespeare said it best ("... Kill all the Lawyers"). Nowadays, their not good for too much else, other than gumming up the gears of evolution. You should all be ashamed of yourselves. You've made this country the laughing stock of the world! Lord help all of you for I can't forgive any of you for bringing us to our knees. If you think washing your hands and sending the problem to the Senate is the answer, you all better do some Good Book reading. It didn't work too well there either since the crucifixion still took place. Now you, too, must take the "credit" for where our government is going – no matter who drives the final spike or nail, we will all have to bear this cross and the consequences of your actions (or lack of action) for generations to come!

There's no turning back on the road you have all started us on. Shame on you, shame on you, shame on you all! May God forgive you because I certainly can't and my children's children won't either!!

Sincerely,